DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 8 and 15 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-2, 6, 8-9, 13, 15-16 and 19, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by McDonald et al. (US Patent 6,122,271).

Regarding to claims 1-2, 8-9 and 15-16, McDonald et al. disclose for use in communicating data over a voice channel (see col.4 lines 31-36), "TDMA" corresponds to "voice channel", between a transmitter and a receiver, a system comprising:

a silence detector (see col.3 lines 37-38), coupled to said transmitter (32, fig.1), that identifies a pause in voice traffic that is to be transmitted over said voice channel and generates an interjection signal during said pause (see col.3 lines 58-67);

data injector (24-31, fig.1), coupled to said silence detector, that receives said interjection signal and responds by causing said transmitter to transmit data to said receiver (see col.4 lines 1-15), wherein said transmitter is associated with a base station of a cordless telephone and said receiver is associated with a handset of said cordless telephone (see fig.2).

Regarding to claims 6, 13 and 19, McDonald et al. disclose said transmitter transmits said voice traffic in frames (see col.4 lines 55-65).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 4, 11 and 17, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McDonald et al. and further in view of Parikh et al. (US Patent 6,408,177).

Regarding to claims 4, 11 and 17, McDonald et al. fail to disclose said data comprises caller identification data.

Parikh et al. disclose data comprises caller identification data (col.11 lines 24-26). Therefore, It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the system of McDonald et al. with the above teaching of Parikh et al. in order to provide call management services such as call screening in conjunction with subscribers.

Regarding to claims 5, 12 and 18, McDonald et al. fail to disclose said data comprises menu item selection data.

Parikh et al. disclose said data comprises menu item selection data (see fig.7b). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the system of McDonal et al. with the above teaching of Parikh et al. in order provide user flexibility to transmit data or voice messages.

5. Claims 7, 14 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(e) as being unpatentable over McDonald et al. and further in view of Sumner (US Patent 6,041,227).

Regarding to claims 7, 14 and 20, McDonald et al. fails to disclose said silence detector identifies said pause by comparing a peak energy of said voice traffic to a noise floor reference.

Sumner disclose said silence detector (see col.2 lines 1-4) identifies said pause by comparing a peak energy of said voice traffic to a noise floor reference (see col.6 lines 6-12). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the system of McDonald et al. with the above teaching of Summer in order to predict periods of silent more accurately.
